FOUR COURSES FEATURE IN THE GOLF DIGEST CANADIAN TOP 20!

Cabot Cliffs - Inverness, N.S.

Co-designer of the celebrated Cabot Cliffs layout, Ben Crenshaw, claimed this "was probably the finest location for any course I have ever helped design". From tee to green, the dramatic par-3, 16th is the signature hole, playing from one cliff edge to another. And like the famous par-5 closing hole at Pebble Beach, the 18th at Cabot Cliffs plays along the coastline the entire length from tee to green.
(Golf Digest course ranking for Canada = 1)

The Links at Crowbush - Morrell, P.E.I.

Crowbush is a gorgeous championship links-style layout which earned a 5-star rating by Golf Digest when first built. This is undoubtedly the jewel in crown of Prince Edward Island's renowned golfing scene. The expansive layout features deep pot bunkers, plenty of water hazards, knee deep rough in some locations and a constant sea breeze, this can be a tricky place to shoot a low score.

Cabot Links - Inverness, N.S.

This classic coastal layout is considered by many to be the finest links course outside of Scotland. Exposed to the winds of the Gulf of St Lawrence, the expansive layout presents a superb challenge for players of all abilities. Every hole offers an ocean view and it is impossible to not feel connected with the landscape. Six holes are located directly adjacent to the white sand beaches and rolling dunes.

Highland Links - Ingonish, N.S.

Designed by the renowned golfing architect Stanley Thompson, Highland Links was built in the 1930s. The layout runs from a rocky promontory and is set entirely within the National Park. L'Etang-du-Nord - Magdalen Island, QUE.
